

How will you prevent terrorist use of this capability? 6 votes

How do Black Sky imaging satellites compare to Planet Labs array of cube sats that will be doing the same thing. 6 votes

Are you looking to provide just imagery, or also value-added information products based on those images? 5 votes

Are there any privacy issues you're working on? 4 votes

Is this a privately owned company? Any plans to go public? 4 votes

How are you working with the intelligence agencies? 4 votes

For the type of earth observation systems that you're developing and given the burgeoning capabilities of UASs, if you were an investor, would you favor one of these industries over the other? Or would you hedge and bet both? 2 votes

Sounds like you're expanding. Are you hiring new graduates? 2 votes

Will customers be able to buy anonymously? Will anyone have access to who bought what? 1 vote

How to contact you for jobs? 1 vote

How are you positioning yourself in the market relative to other small sat imaging systems? Compete on price features repeat visits or simply first to market? 1 vote

How big a risk is debris? Are you contributing to that problem, and how do you think it will eventually be dealt with? 1 vote

How would the availability of a dedicated small satellite launch capability play into your plans? 1 vote